Technology Entrepreneurship: Creating, Capturing, and Protecting Value

By Thomas N. Duening, Robert A. Hisrich, Michael A. Lechter

Recognizing the unique needs of the technology startup, Duening focuses on intellectual property development, funding, and marketing/selling more than other texts in this market. Extensive use of technology examples, case studies, and assignments keeps the book relevant and motivating for engineering students.

- Rich in case studies, examples, and in-chapter elements that focus on the challenges of launching and operating a technology venture
- In-depth examination of intellectual property development, valuation, deal structuring, and equity preservation, issues of most relevance to technology start-ups
- Extensive discussion of technology management and continuous innovation as a competitive advantage
- Addresses the issue of leading, managing, motivating, and compensating technical workers
- More time on the fundamentals of marketing and selling, as these are elements of entrepreneurship commonly most neglected by engineers and scientists

Jonathan Ownby:

As a student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library in order to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's heart and soul or real their leisure activity. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that reading is not important, boring and also can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Technology Entrepreneurship: Creating, Capturing, and Protecting Value can make you really feel more interested to read.
