The Mercury-Woden complex By GardenStone

It was about two thousand years ago the Roman historian Tacitus reported the Germanics venerated Mercury above all. He meant a Germanic God he equated with Mercury. Because Tacitus didn't denominate the name of that God, it had to be interpreted. Many centuries later scholars widely agreed that the name of this God must be Woden. Today that opinion is still taken as evidence. This assumption is assayed here on the basis of available primary sources ; the result suggests serious doubts about the entrenched view. This book requires the willingness to leave comfortable and well-traveled, often-repeated views to examine unbiasedly apparent 'self-evidence facts'.

Editorial Review

From the Author

Something you as a potential buyer should know.....

The main publisher for my books is situated in Germany, they have associates outside Germany. Books ordered in most countries outside Germany are printed by those associate companies.

The German publisher prints my books including the color pictures I added, the associates only can print in black&white.

If you want a copy of the book with the color illustrations, you either should order it in Germany and pay some extra for the P&P, or you take the eBook, which also contains the color pics.

I'm sorry for this inconvenience.
